

Anya Krupina & Company – The Skills Service provides funding for ISO training

Anya Krupina & Company is based in York, and supports SMEs to improve their quality and environmental management systems.

Anya Krupina, Owner:

“This training and funding has been amazing for me. It has allowed my company to grow and offer additional services using our enhanced skills. Without The Skills Service offer I wouldn’t have been able to train my staff. Three out of the four members of the team have been trained and we are planning on doing some more in the future.

We knew what training we wanted and Michaela was great, helpful and got the training provider we needed to meet our needs.”

Skills Advisor, Michaela Young:

“The MD, Anya was realising that she was turning guaranteed income down. Her clients were wanting more in-depth support in environmental management systems, but in addition, they were enquiring into support for information security and health and safety systems. Without the skills, and the certificates to back these up, she couldn’t offer these services.

Before our meeting, she’d been looking at booking one ISO course this year. With the assurance of the funding, she’s been able to schedule four and her business is set to grow via many different income streams.”
